Venice to Condemn, Raze Old Structures

City to Develop Site Along Logan Street For Playground

The Venice city council took the first steps Friday night in a long-term program for demolition of old, dilapidated residences that are unoccupied and considered unsafe.

The council approved a resolution clearing the way for condemnation proceedings involving three pieces of property and announced plans to file more such proceedings as soon as photographs can be taken and inspections made.

Listed in the resolution were one-story frame houses at 1211 Douglas street, 1033 Douglas and 514-Main street. The resolution provided that the buildings be sold to the city for a show case at R. K. Bennington Jewelry store, 1908 Delmar avenue, about 1:30 p.m. Friday.

The women gave Bennington a repair claim ticket, and when his back was turned they reached over the counter to slide a panel and steal the set. The pair fled without claiming the repair item.

To Seek Court Orders

If no action is taken on the notices within that time, City Attorney Harry Hartman will file condemnation proceedings in circuit court to obtain a court order permitting the city to raze the structures.

The council also approved an ordinance prohibiting parking on both sides of Madison avenue from Market street south to Collinsville avenue, a one-block violation. Violations carry a penalty of a fine up to $250.

A resolution declaring Circle drive an arterial street between Bisson and Klein streets was adopted.

Playground Planned

Construction of a playground area that will include a basketball court and volleyball court was authorized by the council. The plan calls for blocktopping a sufficient part of the five-lot tract of ground owned by the city in the 1100 block of Logan street to provide a playground.

Acting upon the suggestion of Mayor John E. Lee, the council authorized City Engineer Jack Tolliver, Consulting Engineer Edward Juneau and Street Superintendent J. Maurer to negotiate a contract for blocktopping the area and setting up the ball courts. Mayor Lee said immediate construction should begin since the next nearest council meeting is June 7 and a delay would result if further details were pushed off until then.

Plans provide for installation of drainage lines so that the area also can be used for a parking lot. The area will be enclosed by a fire hydrant to provide the showers. Park benches also will be placed at the area.

Four faculty appointments in the Madison school district were approved by the board of education at its regular meeting Thursday night. Five resignations were accepted.

Charles Steptoe, a Madison high school counselor, was named as the track coach for the next season.

New employees are Charles Pickett of Lebanon as the MIS librarian and audio visual aids director; Thesis Franks of St. Louis as industrial arts and mathematics instructor at Dunbar school; and Mary Hodges of Madison as special education EMH teacher at Harris school.

Resignations were submitted by Paul Kratz, junior high school teacher, who has accepted a position in the Granite City district; Mrs. Frances Maykub, Madison teacher; Lawrence Burns, MIS baseball coach; Harland Scheibel, MIS teacher and coach; and James Stoddard, Madison junior high school teacher.

Miss Margaret Carlin, a veteran employee in the office of the superintendent of schools, was upgraded to business manager for the district. Her previous title was assistant business manager.

Chester McManaway, a school board member, was selected to represent Madison schools in the new special education district. Madison is a member of the Granite City and Venice schools.

The board authorized purchase of office equipment for a psychologist in the special education district who will be headquartered in the Madison administrative office. Continuation of the summer recreation program and use of school facilities for the purpose also were authorized.

Wind-Up Today For Clean Up Trash Pick Up

The Granite City street department will wind up the "Clean Up Week" program of daily trash pickups in the Maryland Place area today.

Acting upon the suggestion of Mayor John E. Lee, the council authorized City Engineer Jack Tolliver, Consulting Engineer Edward Juneau and Street Superintendent J. Maurer to negotiate a contract for blocktopping the area and setting up the ball courts. Mayor Lee said immediate construction should begin since the next nearest council meeting is June 7 and a delay would result if further details were pushed off until then.

Plans provide for installation of drainage lines so that the area also can be used for a parking lot. The area will be enclosed by a fire hydrant to provide the showers. Park benches also will be placed at the area.

The city-wide pickups were made by the street department in cooperation with the annual Clean Up-Fix Up-Paint Up drive sponsored by the Tri-City Chamber of Commerce.

The drive officially ended Friday.

Medison Sued Over Tolls

The M. S. Slater Truck Co. has filed suit for $14,000 against the city of Madison in Madison county circuit court in connection with the return of that amount in Chain of Rocks bridge tolls paid from 1962 to 1966.

The complaint charges that the city illegally set the tolls too high.

The group were John A. McKean, Jerry L. Nelson, Malford W. Morris Jr., Dennis J. Carlin, Michael A. Pearson, William T. Ellis, Robert P. Thierry, John R. Aschcraft Jr., Charles Anglin, David J. Simon and Jack L. Focht.

So far this year, 102 local men have been drafted. Next month's quota is for 15 men to be drafted June 21.

Partney Takes Action At Blocked Crossing

Mayor Partney took action Friday morning when the train was stalled for 25 minutes at the 22nd street crossing where a 97-car southbound freight train was waiting for a clear-track signal.

The mayor summoned police who instructed the conductor, Chester M. Bundy, of Decatur, to have the engine back the train into the yards north of 25th street. The Norfolk & Western Railroad employee was charged with blocking the 22nd and 25th street crossings for 40 minutes.

Since the building will be well removed from the campus mall, an access road will be constructed.

Total amount available for construction is $1,170,000. After $55,681 in architectural and engineering fees are paid, the university will have a balance of $38,967 to be held in continuing reserve.

The building will house the Security police, the physical plant and printing and engineering departments that are now housed at various locations on the campus.

Architectural firms that will plan future buildings at the southwestern campus also are approved. These include the firm of Helmut, Obata and Kassabaum, design consultants for most SW campus buildings, to plan phase one of a fine arts and office building.

Others are Architects Collaborative, Inc. of Cambridge, Mass., to plan an education classroom and office building; Cone & Donohue of Chicago to design a new phase one of single student housing, and Gabriel-Dulgeroff of Granite City to design recreational facilities at Tower Lake.

Student Request Studied

The board also took under consideration a request by student leaders that housing regulations at the Southwestern campus be liberalized.

William Clover, student body president at the SIU-SW campus, presented three requests. He asked the board to adopt a separate housing policy for the two campuses; to remove rules that require students to live in university-owned housing; and that special consideration be given to students under 21 who want to live in non-university housing and have demonstrated maturity.

The recommendations presented by Clover were adopted by SW student leaders after they complained last February about housing regulations at SIU-SW which originally was designed as a commuter campus and therefore has no dormitories.

President Delyte Morris for his "firm, decisive action to control campus violence." Morris recently announced a policy of vigorous prosecution of university students who broke university or state laws in May 7 demonstrations at the Carbondale campus. The demonstrations followed a bomb explosion that caused $50,000 damage to the Agricultural building.

The board also authorized the administration to proceed "as fast as it can" in negotiating a renewal of the lease on the University of Illinois campus.

So far this year, 102 local men have been drafted. Next month's quota is for 15 men to be drafted June 21.

Culprits Steal Signs; Madison Offers Reward

The city of Madison offered a reward today for information leading to the arrest and conviction of one or more culprits who have an obvious dislike for the city's new ordinance banning parking of trucks in the west side of State street between 10th and 14th streets.

During the weekend, apparently in the early morning hours yesterday, vandals moved along the four-block stretch, removed the bolts and screws of eight No-Parking signs and hauled them away.

Emmett Padia, Madison chief of police, said the metal posts were undamaged. The parking ban was started several weeks ago because of the number of accidents occurring while trucks were parked on the west side of the street.

More About Venice To Officially

Nine members of the Venice City Planning Commission, named by Mayor Lee more than a year ago, were reappointed by Mayor Lee during the council session following a meeting of the plan commission members who have named Toliver as chairman.

The plan group also designated specific terms of service, as follows: Three-year members, Michael Leatherman, Mayor John E. Lee and Ernest Davenport; two-year members, Howard Foley, Lloyd Patterson and Toliver; one-year members, Gene Burnett, Charles Hampton and Hugh Hairston.

Plans also were discussed for revising the front of the fire station building at the city hall to accommodate the newly purchased fire truck scheduled for delivery in about three weeks. The fire station now houses the large pumper, the small Venice fire truck for a rescue and inhalator truck.

The small fire engine has been sold and a small building will be constructed to house the rescue truck. The city expects to remove the dividing column in the station entrance to make one larger entrance.

A large delegation from Montana also is scheduled to attend, including Orvin Flare of Helena, chairman; Don C. Foote of Billings, E. E. MacGillivray of Butte, Mrs. Helen West of Cut Bank, and vice-chairman Hal G. Stearns of Harlowton. John C. Austin of Hamilton will represent the Montana Historical Association.

Others who will attend the affair include Charles Odegaard of Olympia, Wash., representing Gov. Daniel Evans of Washington and scores of federal and state dignitaries.

Plans were announced recently for expansion of the present five-acre Lewis and Clark Memorial Park near Hartford to more than 500 acres and construction of extensive recreational and park facilities.

Warrior Nine Wins District Title, to Face East Side in Regional Action on Tuesday

Sparkling two-hit shutouts by Warrior hurlers Jim Becker and Don Rains gave the Granite City high school baseball team the district title at Edwardsville Thursday and Saturday.

With the victories, the Warriors are pitted against East St. Louis in the first-round of the regional tournament to be played at 4 p.m. Tuesday on the Southern Illinois University-Southwestern diamond. Wood River and Lebanon will open the meet today.

Becker was an unscheduled hurler in Granite City's 2-0 victory over Edwardsville Thursday. He received the nod from Coach Joe Fedora after Rains broke a blister while warming up before the game. In Saturday's final, Rains blanked Collinsville 7-0.

and walking three in the Edwardsville game. Becker had pitched only eight innings previously during the season. He had a sophomore record of 7-3. The Warriors broke the game open in the fifth frame when Jeff Jones singled, Walter Schmidt sacrificed and Mike Dochwatt singled. In the seventh, Jones led off with his fifth home run of the year. Granite City was held to four hits by Jerry Schwan, who went all the way for Edwardsville. Dochwatt also had the other safety.

Postponement of Friday's final gave Rains' finger time to heal, and his teammates gave him a comfortable cushion with two runs in the fourth inning. Two in the sixth and three in the seventh against Collinsville's Kahoks.

Jones Homers Again
Jones again started at the plate, slugging a homer to the opposite field in the sixth in-

Roger Belche opened the frame with a single. It was Jones' sixth round-tripper of the season, leading Fedora to comment that it was the most by any player during his coaching career here. Jones ended the regular season with a .339 average. The Warriors solved Kahok hurler Tim McElligott's delivery in the fourth when Gary Simpson led off with a single, Roger Belche walked and Becker doubled both home.

In the seventh frame, the Warriors loaded the bases when Simpson singled and Belche and Becker walked. With two out, Dochwatt sent a swinging bunt down the third base line for a hit to score one run, and when the third baseman threw wildly, two more crossed the plate.

In other action Friday, Wood River won its own district by downing Alton 6-4, and Triad blanked St. Paul of Highland 10-0 in the Highland district.

NEW CAMERA that photographs inside of stomach permitting more precise diagnosis of gastric disorders is inspected by Mrs. Mary Ann Lay, wife of Dr. Obert Lay, who procured the camera after witnessing its efficiency in recent demonstrations.

New Camera Permits More Precise Stomach Diagnosis

Because the Japanese have more gastric disorders than do Americans, the complexities of stomach surgery performed by Dr. Obert Lay of Granite City will become just a little bit easier.

No longer will Dr. Lay have to depend upon diagnosis made with x-ray pictures and a patient's own description of his symptoms. Hereafter he will be able to know just what problems he is facing.

This all comes about through acquisition of a new-type camera developed by the Japanese to combat their high rate of stomach ailments. The lens of the camera is mounted at the end of a long flexible tube, about as big around as an adult's little finger, which can be inserted into the stomach down the patient's throat where the doctor, at will, can take slide pictures of any part of the stomach he desires.

The other end of the tube that remains outside the body is attached to the camera that contains the film, a trigger mechanism to actuate the camera, and an apparatus that will permit the doctor to move the camera eye around the inside of the stomach to get any picture he wants.

In addition, the outside end of the tube may be removed from the camera and used by the doctor to look through, much as he would a telescope, to view the inside of the stomach.

When looking into the camera, the field of vision is about 55 degrees, but when photographs are taken the field of vision is about 80 degrees. The film is four millimeters wide and will take up to 28 shots. While it must be sent to New York for developing, it is returned in a few days.

Dr. Lay saw the camera demonstrated at a convention of the American College of Surgeons in Miami, Fla., in 1966 by the Japanese doctors who developed it, and again recently at a hospital medical staff meeting.

Lutheran Welfare Services of Illinois is slated for the largest allocation from the budget with $33,000 to support its work in programs for the culturally deprived pre-schoolers; a newly developed program providing day care for children of working mothers; resident programs for emotionally disturbed children; casework services to families and children; special ministries to law offenders, the sick, chronically ill, the alcoholic; and services to the aging.

Lutheran welfare Services of Illinois offers the most comprehensive social missions program under Lutheran auspices in the entire country, Rev. Johnson noted. It is jointly operated by the Illinois Synod of the Lutheran Church in America and the Illinois District of The American Lutheran Church. Two Lutheran colleges supported by the synod are Augustana College, Rock Island, Ill., and Grandview College, Des Moines, Ia.

The convention sessions will be held at historic Trinity Lutheran Church in Rockford, the largest (over 4000 baptized members) parish in the Illinois synod. Rev. Robert J. Marshall, synod president, will open the communion service on Monday evening at 8 o'clock. Delegates will consider a number of important matters to come before the convention such as a fair housing statement, therapeutic abortion, migrant farm workers, moral sensitivity to the war in Vietnam.

A committee appointed at the 1967 convention to examine the mission and structure of the Illinois Synod will present their findings and another committee report is expected on the guidelines that would affect minimum salary levels for pastors and lay workers, and offer suggestions for travel allowance, vacations, and continuing education for pastors.

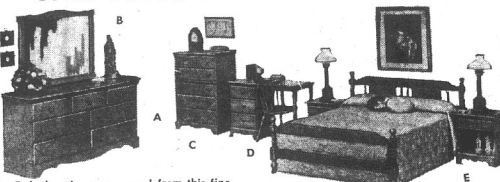

Another highlight of the convention will be ordination service for 22 young men Wednesday evening.

Trades Council Announces Candidate Endorsements

Twelve candidates seeking nomination in the June 11 primary election, all but one of them Democrats, have been endorsed by the Tri-City Trades & Labor Council, Edwin Reiske, council president, announced today.

All of the endorsements were voted unanimously by trades council delegates following reports of a screening committee, Reiske said.

In the only two contested offices in the Democratic primary at council level, the council endorsed Leon Scroggins, incumbent state's attorney, and Leonard Davis, candidate for county coroner. Both officials now are serving by appointment and are seeking election to new terms. Scroggins is opposed by one other candidate, Davis by two.

The council also endorsed William "Mike" Ebersold of Granite City in his bid for renomination as members of the board of trustees of the East Side Levee and Sanitary district. Two other Democratic candidates are in the race for only two Madison county posts subject to election.

Representative Choices In the eight-man Democratic race for election as state representative of the 55th district, the council endorsed the candidates of Leland J. Kennedy of Alton, veteran incumbent state representative, and Horace Galvo, Granite City attorney. The only Republican endorsed was Ralph T. Smith of Alton, incumbent representative and speaker of the Illinois House.

Smith is the only Republican running for the one Republican representative spot open to election.

Dr. John E. Lee, mayor of Venice, was endorsed in his candidacy for election as delegate to the National Democratic nominating convention in Hoffman was able to talk with his mother, Mrs. Helen Hoffman, 1332 Granite avenue, by telephone yesterday, after arriving in Texas by plane from Japan. Specialist Hoffman was attached to the U.S. Army Engineers and had just arrived in Vietnam on April 10.

6454 Governmental Units in State; Too Many, But Salaried Officials And Apathy Prevent Consolidation

(University of Illinois Study Reporting Project)

Local government in Illinois, structured during the horse-and-buggy days of the 19th century, has become increasingly inadequate in dealing with the complex problems of the jet age.

Overgoverned and underfinanced, the state's 6454 units of local government are often unable to meet the needs of their constituents. Nevertheless, local politicians and public apathy continue to uphold the structure.

Illinois is not unique. "Modernizing Local Government," a report issued in July 1966 by the Committee for Economic Development, a group composed of 200 leading businessmen and educators, indicated that local governments throughout the nation are plagued by similar problems.

The CED report cited six weaknesses in the structures of local government:

1. Very few local units are large enough—in population and area of taxable resources—to apply modern methods in solving current and future problems.

2. Overlapping layers of local government—municipalities and townships within counties, and independent school districts and county districts within them—compete for taxes and power. They often lack the legal authority and freedom to deal adequately with urgent community needs.

3. Public interest in local politics is not high. Therefore, there is little popular control over the original functions of the local government.

4. Long-range planning and decision-making are inhibited by weak policy-making mechanisms.

5. The quality of administrative services from antiquated administrative organizations, many of which lack a single executive authority.

6. The spoils system, inadequate pay scales, and lost service for specialized public employees require a knowledge of modern technology.

John F. Steadman, director of the staff in Washington which wrote "Modernizing Local Government," summed up the problems:

"Local governments are unable to meet the needs of the people. They have become mere administrative arms of state and federal policies."

The concept of local governments dealing with their affairs is the bulwark of American democracy. It is regrettable if we lose this. But unless changes are made to bring government into conformity with the times, the whole idea may be lost.

Steadman says he realizes people are not willing to make many changes, especially those persons directly involved with a government, because "(The CED report) makes a great deal of sense, and is completely logical; long overdue. But do you know what will happen if we make any change? Nothing. Because most people don't give two hoots about government."

The New York Times editorialized, "The nation will pay a heavy price if it continues to ignore the need of local government reform."

Illinois in 1818-Edwardsville, Alton Were Still Infant Cities

(From the files of the Granite City Press-Record)

The city of Alton was laid out in 1817 by Colonel Easton, a St. Louis speculator.

Rev. Thomas Lippincott, according to his letters, found there in December 1818 only one cabin besides the ferry house.

Alton was an insignificant town in 1818 compared with Milton, located about three miles back from the Mississippi River on Wood River. This place had a store, two sawmills, a grist mill and a distillery.

The founding of Edwardsville preceded the plating of Alton by one year.

When Governor Edwards issued the proclamation establishing Madison county in 1812, he appointed "the house of Thomas Kirkpatrick to be seat of justice of said county." It was about this time that the present town of Edwardsville grew up, the plat being filed in 1816.

Its population did not exceed 200 when the census was taken in the early summer of 1818.

The original Madison county covered most of the western portion of the state. It lay within its present southern and western boundaries, but the west line extended to the northern boundary of the state.

Only the three southern tiers of townships, about 570 miles, were before 1818. The schedule of the first census in 1818 lists 1717 families in Madison county, with 4516 persons—of whom 34 were free Negroes and 77 were servants or slaves.

BROAD SUPPORT FOR CALVO IN PRIMARY

To the Editor:

As the June 11 Democratic primary approaches, the campaign literature of the contestants, and also listen to them when they made public appearances. Some I have yet to hear. Regarding one, I wonder if he shouldn't be running against the Republican selection for state representative.

During the last month, I have attempted to read the campaign literature of the contestants, and also listen to them when they made public appearances. Some I have yet to hear. Regarding one, I wonder if he shouldn't be running against the Republican selection for state representative.

My own personal opinion after a thorough review is that Horace Calvo of Granite City is the best qualified candidate. He is the only one to my knowledge seeking the office for the first time who has a firm program and complete knowledge of the state legislature.

Calvo also is supported by the AFL-CIO Committee on Political Education, small business, farmers and various religious groups. Let's cast our vote for good state government.

HITS KENNEDY SPENDING AND THIRST FOR POWER

To the Editor:

On the May 14 Huntley-Brinkley report, Brinkley reported that a certain person in an interview with Robert Kennedy, mother of Robert Kennedy, made some remark about the huge amounts of money being spent in the campaign to make Robert Kennedy President of the United States.

To this remark, Mrs. Kennedy was reported to have replied, "Well, it's our money." She guessed that she had the right to spend it as they pleased.

I guess if the Kennedy family wants to spend their money in an effort to make Bobby president, there is no law against it. But I think it will be a sad day for our country when their presidency can be attained only by the super rich.

I think I would be just a little bit ashamed to live in a state where voters could be influenced by such lavish expenditure of campaign funds, or in a nation whose presidency could be bought by a few of Bobby Kennedy's unquenchable thirst for power and of his very questionable political ethics.

Certainly, it was silly and unethical for Bobby to suggest to America's farmers and dairy-men that he was going to break them than was Senator McCarthy because he now has ten children and one more on the way, and that his family would consume more of their meat and drink more of their milk than would the McCarthy family.

At a time when millions of people in India, Central America and other poverty-stricken nations are starving to death from overpopulation, and the only remedy for the situation seems to be birth control, Bobby Kennedy, as president, with his ten or 11 children would not seem to be a person who could make a very convincing argument for birth control.

Relations which our nation is trying so desperately to help.

RECALL FRANCIS AID TO UNION STRIKERS

To the Editor:

I am a retired industrial employee of Granite City, I am proud of Local 663, Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers Union, for endorsing Terry Francis for state representative from the 56th district of Illinois. He has proven to be well qualified to represent the rank and file of the people of Madison county.

Doubtless, the uniformed person will ask how has he proven to be qualified for the office. First, he was in the line of a union-minded man; both his father and grandfather held union cards in the Granite City Steel mill. He added from my own knowledge has from time to time stood for union principles.

How well I recall the several times that Francis gave the voice and legal talents gratis to us strikers while we were on strike at the Union Star and Refining Co. three years ago. I cannot recall all the different help that he gave us at that time but here are some examples:

He gave financial assistance to us while we were on strike.

Quite a number of strikers were pressed by creditors and were on the verge of losing their homes, cars and personal belongings. Francis represented the strikers and did not charge them one dime for his services.

So far as my knowledge goes, there was only one other attorney who gave the strikers legal advice and counsel gratis. This attorney is not running for any office but deserves a lot of credit and consideration from the people who were on strike; both of these attorneys deserve consideration from all union-minded people.

Terry Francis was the first one out of six or seven candidates to offer a positive program for the 56th district.

There is one thing about him that appeals to me very much and that is he appears to me to be able to fill the shoes of Curly Harris, the retiring representative who centered in the looked out for the common man. So, the voter who casts a vote for Francis is casting a vote for a man who is a proven friend of the workers.

Last, but not least, I have lately learned that one political leader in Granite City who has the reputation of working for the one who pays him the most money is at present working as hard as he can against Francis, which proves to me that any clean-minded voter should support Francis.

I am writing this of my own free will. I have not discussed this article with anyone. It is just my own personal belief and opinion.

Deadline Advisable in Peace Talks
That Ignore the Continued Fighting

The irony of U. S. war deaths in Vietnam reaching a record weekly figure of 562 at the same time peace talks were in progress in Paris is difficult for the "home front" to accept and undoubtedly is even more frustrating to American fighting men in the Far East.

It will be recalled that some of the bloodiest battles of the Korean war occurred during the armistice negotiations, when the geographical area under contention shifted only a short distance back and forth but thousands of soldiers were lost on both sides.

World War I stalemates saw the same hills captured and recaptured dozens of times, with vast hordes of men slaughtered in the bitter confrontation.

Peace talks are always tragic, it is much easier to rationalize when there are clear objectives and a visible momentum toward achieving them.

Peace discussions are a heartening development. But the elaborate courtesies and interminable delays of the diplomatic process seem callous when the pawns on the chess board are young men, many of whom will never see the light of day.

Added concern stems from the suspicion that the talks may be just another enemy tactic, taking advantage of bombing reductions and other concessions to intensify the effort to enslave South Vietnam with Communist terror and regimentation.

Even aside from the loss of life, it is evident that the Vietnam war is having an uneven effect, endangering the economic health of the U. S. but constituting only a minor drain on Russia and Red China. This fact unites the belief that America would be unwise to accept the other side's apparent desire to follow a small pace in the current negotiations.

As newsmen, we are acutely aware that a delay in military achievement despite their somewhat nerve-wracking aspects. A reasonable timetable ought to be set and followed at the Paris conference table.

Difficult in Some Urban Areas to Improve Pupils' Lives, Knowledge

By ROBERT W. LOCKE
Senior Vice-President, McGraw-Hill Book Company
(Second of Two Articles)

Examined by itself, the view of educational technology outlined in the last issue is highly encouraging.

It was concluded that, while education still has too many of the characteristics of old-style teaching, it will be able increasingly to individualize instruction within the financial resources of any community seriously concerned about the quality of its schools.

But this seems at first blush to be a relatively insignificant when superimposed on a realistic picture on the condition of many of our schools.

The problems of the schools, in the cities especially, are so staggering that the improvements discussed in the design of instruction may seem less important than some other priorities.

If you live, as I do, in a relatively wealthy suburban area, your children, like mine, go to public or private schools that have generally kept up with the times, are staffed with well-trained teachers, and are well equipped.

These schools have their problems, of course, and all of them could use a better job, but they haven't failed, their communities.

But a great many schools in the United States have failed, in the sense that the education they offer is simply not relevant enough to the needs of the students they enroll.

Most of these schools are in the cities, and many of them serve a population that is now largely Negro.

These schools are central to the distress of the cities and are part of the vicious cycle of deterioration that has created our urban crisis.

Poverty, poor housing, crime and social injustice in the cities have a devastating effect on the education of the children; and the problems of the schools; and

For the third time in the last eight years, Gabaret Island was inundated yesterday by flood waters of the Mississippi River. The two farmers living there, Oscar Anderson and Percy Wilkins, moved to dry ground after putting their property on the second floor of the barn. Of the 1200 acres, 800 were in cultivation; the entire crop of wheat and barley was lost, as it was last summer and in 1958. J. D. Seng, agent for the Reddinghaus Trusts, who own the island, said the water depth ranges from six inches to six feet.

Nearly 300 attended a joint American Legion and Chamber of Commerce dinner at Community High school honoring Burton Bernard, a senior, who recently won the Legion's national oratorical contest. Growth of Legion youth activities was described by Homer R. Challaux, director of the national education activity program.

Big Challenge, Opportunity Faces New Special Education District

Appointment of Chester McManaway on Thursday night rounds out an excellent board for the new Quad-City special education district. The six-member panel consists of McManaway and Supt. Raymond Dragich of the Madison schools, Jack Tolliver and Supt. Alan Venice and George Moore Jr. and Supt. Bob Davis of Granite City.

The board has the responsibility of supervising a wide variety of instruction and training for those Quad-City children handicapped for various reasons in obtaining an adequate education in regular classes.

All of its decisions are subject to ratification by the participating school systems, which retain the local purse strings and the ultimate jurisdiction.

The challenge is great because the state, in ordering formation of county or partial-county districts, has called for substantial expansion and upgrading of services while not providing much additional help in facilities, financing or recruiting. But the goals are worthy, and much progress toward them seems probable, starting with last week's hiring of two full-time psychologists.

Grouping of the three school districts into a single special education system is logical because they are contiguous and their combined efforts will be more effective in providing a single community. More uniform services and significant economies should now be possible.

Sincere Salute By Area to Those Whose Dedication, Sacrifice Guard Our Freedom

The elegant setting at SIU-SW for the 1968 Quad-City dinner of the Tri-Cities Chamber of Commerce reflected local residents' desire to entertain and honor the servicemen who have sacrificed for their country and this nation's active and reserve defense force.

Attorney Randall Robertson, principal speaker, aptly pointed out that the presence of a law of civil control is meaningless without the simultaneous presence of an enforcement mechanism. Although a perfect civilization has yet to be attained, the present system of law is commendable for its opportunity for personal fulfillment is attributable directly to the existence of a strong military establishment.

Armament and armies constitute a threat to the stability of some countries, but in the United States there has been a tradition of civilian control, with those in uniform avoiding political involvement other than their rightful role as voters.

Quad-Cityans warmly salute the men of the Granite City Army Depot, not only as symbols of America's heroic armed forces but as good neighbors and associates who have truly earned a friendly "home away from home" in this community.

Lt. Gov. Samuel H. Shapiro will be sworn in as the 38th Governor of the State of Illinois at 1:30 p.m. Tuesday, May 21, in the House of Representatives in the State Capitol in Springfield.

Gov. Kern, who is being sworn in today as Judge of the U.S. Court of Appeals, Seventh Circuit, will administer the oath of office to his friend and successor in a brief ceremony in the chambers where Shapiro began his service in state government as a state representative first elected in 1946. Shapiro served 14 years in the House.

Following the swearing-in, Gov. Shapiro will conclude the program with a short address. 1ST LT. FORREST E. MUELLER, a rifle platoon leader currently in combat in the Cu Chi area northwest of Saigon, who was awarded the Army Commendation Medal with "V" Device for heroic action.

Lt. Mueller Given Medal For Heroism in Vietnam

A local combat infantry officer who was wounded twice within a 25-day period last summer while fighting with the 25th Infantry Division in Vietnam, recently was awarded the Army Commendation Medal with "V" Device for heroic action earlier this year.

First Lt. Forrest E. Mueller, 21, a son of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Mueller Jr., 1227 Lindell Blvd., and husband of the former Miss Jane Polite, 2904 Washington Ave., has been cited for heroism in connection with military operations against hostile forces on Feb. 8, 1968, awarded by direction of the Secretary of the Army and signed by Col. B. F. Road, 25th Infantry Division chief of staff, reads in part:

Heroic Action

"First Lt. Mueller distinguished himself by heroic action on Feb. 8, 1968, while serving with Company B, 2nd Battalion, 14th Infantry, in the Republic of Vietnam.

"When incoming hostile rounds set fire to the company's ammunition supply, tremendous explosions resulted sending shrapnel, gas grenades, live and dud rounds flying throughout the battalion area.

"As the fiery inferno roared out of control, disregarding the danger of further explosions and the fact that the entire area was littered with dud rounds, Lt. Mueller moved forward into the danger area and assisted in containing the raging blaze.

"Lt. Mueller's personal bravery and devotion to duty are in keeping with the highest traditions of the military service and reflect great credit upon himself, his unit, the 25th Infantry Division and the United States Army."

The infantry officer received his first Purple Heart Medal on July 31 for shrapnel wounds to the chin, sustained in fighting Viet Cong forces during the

TORNADO SEASON PREPARATIONS

The most dangerous "tornado months" for Illinois are May and June, says O. L. Hoggett, University of Illinois safety specialist.

The help protect yourself, he recommends, you understand the meaning of tornado reports. A "tornado watch" means that conditions are ripe for a tornado to develop within a defined area. Be alert if you are in such an area. But you need not interrupt your normal routine except to watch for threatening weather.

A "tornado warning" means that a tornado has been sighted. Warnings indicate the tornado location, the area through which it is expected to move and time period during which the tornado should move through the warning area. Take shelter if you are in the danger area. The tornado warning system is designed to give you 10 minutes to prepare.

If you are outside when a tornado is coming toward you, lie in the nearest depression, such as a ditch or ravine. If possible, get into a culvert.

If you are inside and have time, open the windows on the north and east sides of the house to equalize air pressures. This procedure may save your house from destruction, if you have time, shut off the electricity and heating appliances.

Take shelter in the southwest corner of your basement or in a storm cellar or fallout shelter. If you don't have a basement, arrange to take shelter with a neighbor who does. But if you don't have time to escape, take cover under heavy furniture against inside walls on the lowest floor of your home. And remember to keep away from doors and windows.

If you are in a public building, stay inside, away from windows, and near an inside wall. Avoid auditoriums, gymnasiums and other areas with long roof spans and few supporting posts.

Earn-Learn Program Now Open to Veterans

A special opportunity to earn and learn is now available to Vietnam veterans, the Veterans Administration advised today. The program involves special non-competitive "transitional appointments" which permit new veterans with limited education to go to school under the GI Bill and to work for the government at the same time.

John B. Naser, manager of the VA regional office in Chicago, explained that non-competitive appointments can be made through the first five Civil Service grades—providing the veteran has less than one year of training beyond high school and has the job qualification required.

To secure such an appointment, the veteran must agree to take at least the equivalent of one full school year of education or training. If this does not give the veteran a high school diploma, or its equivalent, an expanded program would be worked out, Naser said.

Salary Range
Commencing with the government salary schedule for the first five civil service grades, the official said the annual pay runs from $1778 to $2555—higher after the scheduled pay raise this July.

Additionally, a single veteran going to school on a half-time basis would receive another $50 a month under the GI Bill, he pointed out. The rate is $130 a month for a full time single student.

Under the new program, provisions can be worked out for a veteran either to work part time and attend school full time, or work full time and go to school part time. Generally a student would be required to carry at least 25% of the normal school work load, the VA officer said.

Veterans who attend high school under the GI Bill do not lose any eligibility for college training, he explained.

While few jobs require veterans to pass written tests, many including the trades, crafts and laboring jobs, do not. Veterans would work for at least one year under the transitional appointment. Then, if the veteran's on-the-job performance is satisfactory, the transitional appointment may automatically become a regular appointment when the veteran shows the agency he has completed his education plan.

181 Days in Service
Veterans must have had at least 181 consecutive days of active duty, some part of it after Aug. 4, 1964, to be eligible for transitional appointment.

Naser explained that in general veterans will be eligible for such appointments for one year after date of discharge or one year after Feb. 9, 1968, whichever is later.

Interested veterans may contact any government agency or secure further information from any office of the Civil Service Commission, Veterans Administration offices or at one of the 21 U. S. Veterans Assistance Centers. A Veterans Employment Service office is located at 505 Washington avenue, St. Louis.

Decorations were fresh-cut spring flowers in the GA colors of green, gold and white. The emblem was suspended over the refreshment table.

BROWNIE ADVANCEMENT

Brownie Troop 899, sponsored by the Webster PTA, met at the school Wednesday with the leaders, Mrs. Jackie Watkins and Mrs. Eva Arbogast.

After roll call, the members proceeded to the gymnasium, where a double ceremony of flying up and rededication to scouting was conducted. A Brownie ring was formed by the troop and Mrs. Arbogast and a rustic stone bridge centered the room so the girls could cross over to the horseshoe of a sister junior troop.

The Brownies, Laura Arbogast, Sharon Chrusciel, Rebecca DeForest, Pamela Gaines, Corina Kuhn, Candace Watkins and Mrs. Arbogast, explained what they enjoyed best about scouting as they received wings.

They were met by Mrs. Watkins, who will lead Junior Troop 29 in September. The girls repeated the scout promise and were welcomed by members of Troop 29, Susan McKinney, Janet Russell, Patty Maggs and Kay Watkins.

The ceremony closed with the troops singing in union, "When Ever You Make A Promise."

9 Canine Rabies Cases In State Last Year

Nine cases of canine rabies have been diagnosed in Illinois during the last year, according to Robert M. Schneider, director of the Illinois Department of Agriculture.

Of the nine cases, four were unvaccinated, three were strays with vaccination history unknown and two had current rabies vaccination. Three of the dogs were known to have been in contact with skunks or other wildlife and there was a possibility that the strays dogs had been exposed to rabid wildlife.

"This illustrates," Schneider said, "that all dogs should be inoculated against rabies, that dogs that have been exposed to skunks should be considered as exposed to rabies and that a solution to skunk rabies should virtually eliminate rabies in dogs in Illinois."
